

answer. "I am so glad," the Western lady went on as I said. "I am so glad that you are back home again, and have been able to meet you. I understand that you are in excellent health." "Indeed," I replied Mrs. Baker. "I send a knowledge of the English alphabet, but you are the first person to receive me of what you call individuality. Good morning."

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

The dealers in second-hand clothing, doing business in Philadelphia, have long had grievances against the pawnbrokers, and by way of securing their rights recently formed a protective association, whose cardinal doctrine is the boycotting of all pawnbrokers who permit the general public to make critical examination of their goods before the articles are exposed as a stolen sale.

A man taking his first exercise is a graceful specimen as compared with the one wife Stephen Clay-land will present when he begins to whistle at the foreign policy in that ledger of appetites—Puffin-land Press.

Henry Watterson calls for vigilance committees to kill up the wells and gaudy the creeks about Louisville as to prevent the sale of bogus milk.

The papers are publishing articles on the disease of Herber Spencer, and medical authorities make no mention of his having purchased a prize package—Boston Transcript.

The total expense of the May 1 and Sunday meetings in London was £16,000, the whole having been contributed without any application for subscription.

If I had known how undignified and incomplete I would appear, I don't believe I should have done it.—S. J. T.—(Philadelphia Call).

Cannibal hotel managers are lamenting the decrease in the number of American tourists travel in that country, caused by the reason that food was too dear.

England—What shall I do to keep my government from sending me to prison? But you are trying to lead him into prison.—Baltimore Day.

A disgruntled bicycle rider says it is just like working your passage on a canal boat by leading the horse, for all the riding one gets out of it.

The long-expected letter from Mr. Thorne to Mr. Cleveland has been received by The Post and Tribune at great expense.—H. T. T. "To Oliver Cleveland, Albany: Dear Sir—Enclosed dog-bitten plums spontaneously sprung up in a sombre little opening in the woods, and I am sure they are the first to bear fruit since the second process, turning pale pink or green. Saluted J. J. B."—(Albion Post-Journal).

The London "Graphic" says: "Nail portraits are the latest fancy among Grecian lovers. A military officer of the beloved one is photographed on the thumb nail, so that the devoted swain may always have her image before him."

Some young Indians at the seaport wear around their straw hats a twist of common hay. The young dogs who go after the young ladies regard the new capture as a personal insult.—(Norristown Herald).

From twelve to fifteen million gallons of wine will be made this year in California, nearly double the production of 1883.

A pair of peak horses, attached to a huck, were seen standing in front of the Maxwell Hotel, in Nashville, the other day. The strange sight caused a considerate inquiry among the pedlars as to how the horses came to be so highly colored. The huckman who drove them explained to about 100 people, but all could not get the question answered which he posed to the rest of his bunch: "These horses got pinked by her last in the rain, and now she's got pinked up again, which is pink."—(Nashville Daily American).

Then it will be the death of this Democratic snake-bait, and it has been shown dying every time it has run all the life it has left in the tail. It is still living, but the end is not far off. The time will come when we must give up the idea of saving it, and then again it will be the task of the leaders to sweep it off the board. But this is steadily retreating, and is as bad as it can be. It is the last stage of the fall of the economic and financial power of the party.
